AHS International is participating in Rotor & Wing International’s Rotorcraft Technology Summit and is providing a special benefit for all current members: a 25% discount on registration. The Summit takes place Sept. 19-20 at the Fort Worth Downtown Hilton in Fort Worth, Texas.

Find out more at www.rotorcraftsummit.com. Then register to attend by Aug. 12 to get your exclusive 25% AHS member discount by entering the code AHSVIP on the registration form. An extra $200 early bird discount runs through this Friday, Aug. 5.

The Rotorcraft Technology Summit is focused on informing helicopter operators, manufacturers, vendors and regulators about new and emerging technologies that can help leaders run helicopter operations more efficiently and safely.

*RW*I recognizes AHS International’s expertise as the world’s only international technical society for engineers, scientists and others working on vertical flight technology. Since our members are essential to the development of advanced rotorcraft technologies, AHS International will bring key insights to this event’s discussions.

Mike Hirschberg, AHS Executive Director, is moderating the panel discussion on emerging technologies. This session, “A Look Ahead: Technologies on the Operations Horizon,” features these important speakers from government and industry:

- Mark Moore, Chief Technologist for On-Demand Mobility, NASA
- Martin Peryea, Chief Engineer of Bell Helicopter’s 525 Program
- Russ Spray, President & CEO, Turbomeca USA
- Jorge Castillo, Manager, Regulations and Policy, FAA Rotorcraft Directorate

Other technology-focused sessions during the day-and-a-half event include:

- Putting HUMS to Work in Light Helicopters
- Single-Engine IFR Certification and Initiatives
- “Data Mining” and Your Bottom Line
- Drones as a Business Opportunity
- Low-Level Infrastructure: Routes, Heliports, and Weather
- Progress in Certification Streamlining
